

Grandma and the Cancelled Check: A Short Form Memoir

My grandmother was a kind and loving woman. She was always there for me, no matter what. She would listen to me talk about my problems, and she would always give me good advice. She was the one person I could always count on.

One day, when I was in college, I got a call from my mom. She told me that Grandma had been diagnosed with cancer. I was devastated. I couldn't imagine my life without her.

I went to visit Grandma as often as I could. I would sit with her and talk to her, and I would tell her how much I loved her. She would always smile and tell me that she loved me too.

One day, I was visiting Grandma when she handed me a cancelled check. She told me that she wanted me to have it. I looked at the check, and I saw that it was for $100,000.

I was shocked. I asked Grandma why she was giving me so much money. She said that she wanted me to have it so that I could get a good education and have a good life.

I was so grateful to Grandma for giving me the money. I knew that she loved me very much, and I wanted to make her proud. I promised her that I would use the money to get a good education and have a good life.

Grandma passed away a few months later. I was heartbroken, but I knew that she would always be with me. I kept the cancelled check that she gave me, and I framed it. It is a reminder of her love and her belief in me.

I am now a successful businesswoman. I have a good job and a happy family. I know that Grandma would be proud of me. I owe everything to her, and I will never forget her.
